HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES 195 SUNDAY

The Class of 1966, Wilmington High School, will have its graduation exercises Sunday.

195 members of the class, led by Class Marshall Nancy Farrell, will march out to the athletic field, to the music of the High School Band's Pomp and Circumstance, for the ceremony that will end their educational career in Wilmington High School.

The presentation of awards is scheduled to be conducted by Bernard P McMahon, High School Principal, and the diplomas are to be presented by Glen E Connolly, Chairman of the school Committee.

Miss Mary Keough, Burlington Avenue, is to be the Valedictorian, and the Salutatorian is to be Donald Coolidge, of Lake Street.

TWENTY SIX YEARS LATER: It was twentyfive years ago, in July, that Rocco DePasquale opened his restaurant, on Main Street, and put up a sign on a base that he had built himself.

Monday the sign came down, to be replaced by a new one. Rocco was on hand to supervise it all, even though he is now retired from an active part in the business. Rocco can be seen at far right.

Two men captured after wide search

Joe Barton of Woburn Street has a guest at his home - his daughter who drove up from a southern state Tuesday.

Wednesday morning, at about 7 am, Joe looked out the front window and saw a State Police Cruiser, parked in front of the house. 'What did you do, to have the State Police here?' he asked.

'What did you do, you mean,' she said, 'to have a Trooper come to the back door looking for you!'

For a Trooper was coming in, at the back door, as she spoke.

The experience of Joe Barton was not unique, in that section of North Wilmington, yesterday morning. State Troopers and local police were scouring all the land between Woburn Street and Middlesex Avenue, from High Street down to the railroad tracks, looking for two ex-convicts.

Roscoe, the 'other' police dog of the Wilmington Police, with his master, Parrolman Anthony Langone, was taking a part in the search. Roscoe doesn't get quite as much to do as his partner Zip, for he has the midnight to 8 am watch, and that's generally quite quiet.

Nearly every house in the area was visited, or at least was aware of the search being conducted. Eight troopers had been called in, and the Wilmington police were out in force.

The ninth trooper was the man who had stopped the two men for whom all were looking, at about 5:30 am on Route 93. They had crashed their car on Concord St. after eluding him.

Children, on their way to the Woburn Street School, were stopped by the Troopers, who thought it too dangerous for them to go thru the woodland areas of Marcia Road and the school pedway.

After the troopers realized how many children were using that pedway, they formed an escort, and brought them to the school, where they were quickly shoed inside by their teachers.

Along North Street, and Linda Road, and all the side streets, householders were warned to keep themselves and their young children inside their homes.

The two men were seen several times, between seven and eight am but always in a place where there were no police at the moment.

Meanwhile State and Wilmington police were having their uniforms soaked, as they beat their way through brush and heavy grass, wet by a thundershower the evening before. They were, in fact, a sorry looking crew.

About 8 am it was decided that Roscoe would be unable to do anything, because the brush was too wet to carry an odor.

And, at 9 am many of the troopers returned to their barracks.

Finally at about 11 am, a sweater and a shirt were found, behind the Bradley home, on North Street. The Andover Barracks was notified, and a bloodhound was sent to search out the owner of the clothing.

The bloodhound didn't succeed, but at about 12:30 pm, the employees of the D&D Gulf Station on Middlesex Ave noticed two young fellows at the telephone booths. They were both wet from the waist down. A call was quickly put in to the Wilmington Police.

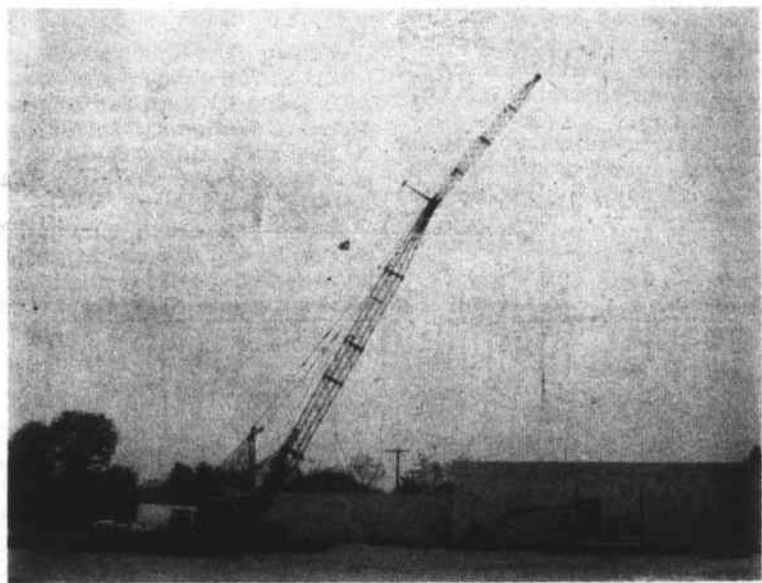

It was that call, says officer John Harvey, which was responsible for the apprehension of the pair, and he is thankful that the D&D boys were so alert.

When Harvey arrived, he had as a passenger in his car Trooper Jerry Sullivan, and the two men drove right up to the telephone booth, and arrested the men at gun point.

William F. Tobin, 19, of Connecticut, was held on a charge of using a car without authority.

John Silva, 22, of Lawrence, was held on charges of using a car without authority, operating after suspension of license, driving as to endanger, and failing to stop for a police officer.

The two men had been stopped on Route 93 by Trooper Brosnan. As he approached their car, alleged to have been stolen in Dorchester, they took off. Brosnan fired his gun into the air twice, and the driver, who was already on Concord Street, ducked, causing the car to smash into a tree.

LARGEST MOTOR CRANE: And largest automobile agency in New England.

The huge crane of the Baldwin Steel Erection Company of Wilmington is a familiar sight, on Main Street, as it lifts steel and other building materials into the new headquarters of the Wilmington Ford automobile agency.

Solicitations should be cleared with the Chamber of Commerce

Telephone and other solicitations, to the people of Wilmington, should be approved by the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce, before any solicitation is made, Stanley Webber, Executive Secretary, declared Monday morning.

The Chamber, he said, has had a number of inquiries about a solicitation now in progress, and which purports to give a local address. The solicitors are attempting to sell, by telephone, and say they represent a worthy cause.

The solicitors have not presented any evidence of their work to the Chamber of Commerce, Mr Webber stated, nor have they, to the extent of his knowledge, made any request of the chamber for an approval.

A COMPLETE BLACKOUT

Wilmington residents, without a shadow of a doubt, have been reading keenly the news of the proposed Boston Stadium, with its $98 million cost. For, the way it seems, there will be a Boston Stadium or a Wilmington Stadium, but not both.

The Legislature, last week, would not even consider the proposals for a stadium in Boston, but the proponents are not in the least disheartened. All sorts of statements are being made and reported in the Boston press, as to how the impossible, or nearly impossible at any rate, is going to be accomplished.

The interesting fact is that not once, in weeks, have the Boston papers even mentioned the fact that there is a proposed stadium, in Wilmington.

THE 1966 TAX RATE

As is probably well realized, there are different methods, this year, in the computation of tax rates. The new sales tax has changed many of the items which appear in the 'Cherry Sheets', the paper which is given to town and city officials, and which lists the monies to be received, and to be paid out, by the various municipalities.

But in Wilmington, even when one fully understands the figures, there is no figuring of the tax rate for 1966 until sometime in September.

The town is undergoing a complete revaluation of its real estate, and the figures will not be ready until September first at the earliest, and perhaps two or three weeks later.

Suffice it to say that, for the moment, Bob Peters, Town Accountant, believes that if the valuations were to be on the same basis as last year, there would be about a three dollar cut in the tax rate.

But even Bob has his fingers crossed, and will not be able to say for certain for several months.

MONDAY'S EXECUTIVE SESSION

Generally speaking a newspaper is against executive meetings on the part of any board or authority, but at the same time it must be realized that there are times, for the good of a municipality, when an executive meeting must be held.

It isn't the use of executive meetings, but the abuse of them which is bad. In the past there have been Selectmen in Wilmington who have abused their privileges, but such was not the case Monday night.

Even Mr Miceli, who had spoken up loudly against the executive meeting, admitted half way through the meeting that it would have been foolish to discuss the subjects in open meeting.

Alan Altman, Town Counsel, made most of the points. Mr Altman had a list of errors, going back three years, on the part of various officials and other persons, which were proving harmful to the town.

It was his plea that town officials and boards should check their proposed warrant articles for town meetings, and their motions, with the Town Counsel, before the Town Meeting. He also said that the same rule should hold, with respect to finances, and figures, that is the boards and officials should check with the Town Accountant.

One of the foolish things of which he spoke concerned one committee, which had had the town meeting appropriate money for a school purpose out of the fund for Police Cruisers! Further, it was shown, there was no money in that account - and another committee had passed on the proposal!

Mr Altman said he knew of five problems that had been caused this way, in the past few years, and he went further to say that he was making the statement on his own, - thus disclaiming any idea that he might have been prompted to make it for others.

It will all eventually be known to the townspeople, and some of the items discussed will be mighty interesting.

Zip almost got a mouthful

A 24 year old Billerica youth, John Brennan by name, will never forget last Thursday night.

It ended up in the Lowell District Court, next morning, where Brennan paid $75 in fines, and still has to face a charge of alleged assault on a Wilmington Police Officer, Richard Jenkins. The assault is said to have taken place in the Tewksbury police station, after all the excitement was over, and after Brennan had been returned to that town, where the excitement is said to have begun.

Brennan, meanwhile, was chased by the police cruisers of half a dozen towns and one city, in a 50 mile chase that was punctuated by 50 bullets being fired at the light panel truck he drove.

And the chase ended with a 75 foot sprint, to a tree up which Brennan climbed. Right behind him was Zip, one of Wilmington's Police Dogs.

That's the part that Brennan is least likely to forget, for Zip was only one breath behind Brennan when he swung into that tree.

The chase started in Tewksbury shortly after 10 pm. The police of that town had a report of a hit-and-run accident. Shortly afterwards Brennan, in his light truck, was being chased.

He fled down the back roads, and Wilmington and Billerica police joined the search. Soon he was on Burlington Avenue (Route 62) in Wilmington, headed for Burlington.

It was at 10:25 pm that Burlington set up a road block on Wilmington Road (which is Burlington Avenue extended), a part of Route 62. Officer Louis Rupo put his car right across Wilmington Road.

Brennan, with two Wilmington cruisers and the Billerica cruiser in hot pursuit, swung around Rupo's cruiser, and across a lawn, and back towards Wilmington, narrowly missing the three cruisers. He turned down Chestnut Street, lights off.

Shortly there were five cruisers

Selectmen's Meeting

The closed doors of an executive session barred the public from what was suspected to be the most intriguing part of Monday night's Selectmen's meeting. The executive session was held to discuss invalid town meeting articles of unspecified number and content.

Selectman Miceli voiced strong opposition to discussing the matter in executive session, and he, in return, received the solid opposition of his colleagues on the Board.

Miceli's contention, that problems resulting in additional costs to the Town should be aired publicly failed to convince the others. Bender, Black, Mrs. Drew and Niles concurred that the town would best be served by discussing the matter privately. 'We're not going to get through this without talking about somebody' Mrs. Drew reproved Miceli, 'and we don't talk about somebody in front of the press'.

Niles asked the Town Manager if an executive session had been recommended by Town Counsel, Alan Altman, who was present, spoke for himself, saying that he did, indeed, recommend an executive session. The motion for the session passed with a vote of 4-1, with only Miceli dissenting.

Beginning at 8:55 pm, the executive meeting lasted until after 10 pm.

Licenses

A more routine side of Monday's meeting was the discussion of a number of licenses. An application by Lowell Gas for extension of a pipeline on Pershing Street was held, pending submission of sketches and proposals, in accordance with established Board policy. Selectman Black objected to granting the license because, he said, there had been poor street repairs on previous pipeline extensions. The Board agreed to send a letter to the gas company requesting that they comply with the policy of submitting sketches and proposals, and voicing dissatisfaction with recent street repairs.

A Sunday license was granted to Vadala's Market, on Burlington Ave., and the Essex County Agricultural Association was granted a permit to conduct a horse show on the Clarke Farm, on June 19th.

Three other licenses were deferred when a notation by the Health Inspector of unsanitary conditions at one of the establishments was pointed out by Black. All three licenses were held until the pertinent party could be instructed to clean up his premises.

Taxi Regulations

A frequently proposed discussion of revision of the taxi regulations was finally given a definite date for next Monday night, June 13. The Selectmen hope, specifically, to set up more stringent insurance regulations for taxis operating within the town.

Gravel Removal

TM Henneberger reported on an unlicensed gravel removal operation taking place in the town. A license, it seems had been granted years ago, but had not been renewed. Furthermore, Henneberger said, he suspected that the operation was encroaching on town owned land.

The Selectmen instructed Henneberger, along with the Town Counsel, to investigate, and report further.

Reading Light

Chairman Bender announced a meeting with the Reading Municipal Light Department and the Boards of Selectmen of the towns of Wilmington, Lynnfield, and North Reading, to be held on June 14 at 8 pm at the Lynnfield Town Hall. The meeting, he felt, evidently indicates a more co-operative attitude on the part of the light company officials in negotiating for rate reductions with the three towns.

House 2535

Bender reported to the board on House Bill 2535, now before the House Ways and Means Committee of the State Legislature. The bill would provide funds to the town for transporting mentally retarded children over 16 years of age to the Rehabilitation Center in North Reading for a training program. The Board agreed to write to Rep. Fred Cain, urging support of the measure.

Miceli suggested that, if the bill should fail, the Board should consider a warrant article appropriating town money for such transportation costs.

Carolyn Road

Anthony Lopez of Carolyn Road appeared before the Board to register a complaint about a pine tree which he considered dangerous, in a lot of land near his, on Carolyn Road. The pine, he said, is 100 feet high, and should come down. The TM was instructed to have the Tree Warden look at the tree, and take action in the matter.

Street Lighting

The naming of a Street Lighting Committee turned out to be Miceli's Show. He was the only member of the board with ready nominations. The other members of the board seemed to be non-concerned.

Miceli's nominations were Earl Zimmerman, Charlotte Drive; Michael Shaw, Redwood Terrace; Frank McNally, State Street; George Kenson, Belmont Ave.; and Louis DiRupo, Redwood Terrace.

When Miceli had completed his nominations Mrs. Drew quipped, 'Are these all Jaycees?'

Bender asked if the board would care to ratify the nominations, and the vote was by acclamation.

New Business

Bender reported that he had received numerous complaints about the traffic and parking at Baby Beach. The TM was instructed to see what could be done to stop the swimming in the area.

Bender complimented Billy Babine and his Tree Department crew on their mosquito spraying, but lamented the fact that the mosquitoes seemed to be winning the war. 'We're going to have to come up with another idea, or open a blood bank in town' Bender said.

Henneberger said that the Tree Department was working 12 hours a day, on spraying, and that one of the difficulties was that there had been two 'hatches' at about the same time. He told the Selectmen he would look into the possibilities of renting additional equipment for mosquito extermination.

Black mentioned Saturday night's fire, and said that his own feeling was that many of the fires have been intentionally set. He also lamented the teenage vandalism in the schools and town.

Henneberger added that the vandalism had been terrible. 'The parents who complain about taxes' he said 'should see what their children are doing!'

Miceli said he had received a complaint about open drains on Burt Road, seemingly left by a realty company. The TM said he would investigate.

Rev. Thomason's Departure

The board instructed that a letter be sent to the Reverend Terry Clay Thomason, departing for Watertown after five years as minister of the Methodist Church, thanking him for his service in the community, in both spiritual and secular matters.

The public meeting ended at 8:55 pm.

Tri-Town rated 'Excellent' by AAA

Tri-Town Service and Tire Center, operated by Douglas Archibald at 316 Lowell Street, has been rated 'excellent' after a recent survey by Stanley Gubala, Director of Service Station Relations of the American Automobile Association's Massachusetts Division.

The AAA official inspected the garage's equipment and praised the service station management for maintaining a comprehensive day and night service program.

The service station is one of the 22,000 garages under contract to AAA to handle emergency road service for disabled motorists. AAA garages assist stranded motorists on the average of once every four seconds.

Camp Forty Acres is 'booked solid'

THE COUNCIL FIRE: Saturday night, just before the fire was lit. Scouts are holding up their Patrol Flags, for inspection.

Camp Forty Acres, the Wilmington Youth Camps Inc. reservation in North Wilmington, is going to have a very busy summer. It is 'booked solid' for the entire season, according to Foster Balsar, camp director, with Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, and a Methodist Day Camp being part of the summer's programs.

The camp was started about 20 years ago, when Mr. Balsar heard that a Tewksbury man, a Mr. Daniels, wanted to get rid of forty acres in North Wilmington. Balsar persuaded Daniels to give it to the youth of Wilmington, and then, with such persons as Philip Buzzell, set up a Trusteeship, named Wilmington Youth Camps, Inc. to own the land forever, for the youth of Wilmington.

There has been much volunteer labor, over the years, improving the site, and the Wilmington Community Fund, over the years, has contributed much, financially, to the camp.

In the past winter a new well has been dug, 23 feet deep, with a 42 inch casing, which supplies 750 gallons an hour, water that is approved both by the Wilmington and the State Boards of Health.

A new supply of aluminum wire has been acquired, for the camp electrical system. Copper wire, used before, has been stolen too many times during the winter.

Camporee

Last weekend was not the first, but it was the biggest joint effort of the year, so far, when 370 Scouts and 40 Scout leaders, guests of the Wilmington Boy Scouts and Scout leaders, had a District Camporee.

The Scouts were from the Wamsit District of the Greater Lowell Council of Boy Scouts - Scouts from Wilmington, Tewksbury, Billerica, and South Lowell i.e. south of the Merrimac River.

It was a very carefully organized Camporee. Explorer Post 56 of Wilmington (Explorers are the older boys, in Scouting, and wear a green uniform) acted both as the Camp Police, and as the Camp Guides.

A Billerica man, Richard Cook, was the Camp Director, assisted by Walter Kaminski of Fairmeadow Road, who is Scoutmaster of the St. Dorothy Troop.

Physical arrangements were in charge of Foster Balsar, and Conservation was in charge of Frank Tuttle of Carson Ave. Health and Safety was the province of Maurice Fournier, of Fitz Terrace. Registration was the duty of Frank Heron of Billerica, assisted by the Explorers.

Another Wilmington man, Dwight Maxwell of Loumac Road, was in charge of Inspection, and District Executive Joe Richer of Lowell was in charge of awards. Discipline, Scout-wise, was maintained by the Explorers. Fires, for instance, were allowed only on written permit to the Patrol Leaders, and among the forbidden items was Sheath Knives.

The Wilmington Tree Department, the night before the Camporee started, sprayed the area for mosquitoes, so that perhaps the 370 youngsters, sleeping under canvas and the stars, did not spend too much of the night slapping at unwanted company.

FOSTER BALSAR: And the electric generator, which supplies power and light for the camp. It was formerly a Civil Defense generator, which has been given to the camp, and put into working order.

CROTTY'S CAMP: Is the new unofficial name of this Adirondack Lean To, which was re-roofed this spring by Charles Crotty of Silverhurst Avenue, and a Tewksbury Scoutmaster. Charley is crouched, tending the fire. Shown is one of the new White Mountain grills, installed this year, which are supposed to be immovable.

Standing are Freddy Loeffler, Assistant Scout Master of a Nuttings Lake troop, and Frank Heron of Billerica, who was Registration Officer during the week-end Camporee.

SCOUTS OF TROOP 59, Awaiting orders to join in, at the evening Council Fire. Troop 59 is from St. Thomas Church.

Church services, too, were not forgotten. Father John McNeil of St. Dorothy's Church conducted Catholic services, Sunday morning, in the Camp Chapel, which is picturesquely situated on top of a rocky hill, while the Rev. H Allen Tadgell conducted Protestant services under a huge out-door shelter which was constructed a few years ago, by volunteer labor.

FLY-UP FOR BROWNIES: Of Troop 419 took place, Monday afternoon, at the home of Mrs Bradford Case of Oakridge Circle.

L to R: Diane Robson, Theresa Gilligan, Sharon Zimmerman, Lisa Gately, Tobie Stein, Sharon Burt, Kristine Wicks and Laurel Kumm. They are now members of Junior Girl Scout Troop 86.

Commemorating the 150th anniversary of the American Gas Industry, Gov. John A Volpe signs a proclamation which identifies the week of June 13 to 19 as Gas Industry Week in Massachusetts. Present were (left) Robt. J Rutherford, president of the American Gas Assn and the Worcester Gas Light Co. and Burdette Johnson, president of the New England Gas Assn and the New England Gas and Electric Co. Gas Industry Week is a national celebration marking the founding of the industry by Rembrandt Peale, in Baltimore, on June 13, 1816.

Funeral services for Robert Barry

Robert Barry, of Powder House Circle, was tendered the largest funeral given, in Wilmington, in years, at the time of his burial, Tuesday, in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

He had died last Saturday, at 2 pm, in the St John's Hospital in Lowell.

The wake, at his request, was held in his late residence. For two days long lines of mourners waited their turn to pay their respects to his memory, and to his family. The line, many times, extended as far as Middlesex Avenue, a quarter of a mile away.

A native of Wilmington, 39 years old, he was the son of retired US Deputy Marshall Michael Barry, now of Medford, but formerly of Wilmington.

For some months he had been suffering from cancer, but he continued to the last to take an interest in what he was doing. When the end came it was rapid, a surprise to the physicians who were attending him.

He was a Vice President of the Granite State Engineering Company, and was highly regarded for his abilities at the construction of high tension electric power lines. He had started as a lineman, after graduation from Wilmington High School. Ten years ago, when the Avco power lines were installed, it was Robert Barry who was asked to supervise the work.

Mr Barry was particularly noted for his many endeavours to his fellow man. He was an outstanding member, and a past president, of the Holy Name Society, in St. Thomas Church, and for years led the decency campaign in Wilmington. For the past few years he had been a valued member of the Permanent Building Committee, of Wilmington.

A Solemn High Mass was sung Tuesday, at 10 am, in St. Thomas Church. The Celebrant was Father Francis Mackin. The Deacon was Father Paul Berube, and the Sub Deacon was Father Augustin Lamond, OSA.

Seated in the chancellory were the Rev. William Walsh, a cousin, from Pinehurst; the Rev. Edward B Flaherty of Burlington; Monsignor Joseph Donelan of Boston; Monsignor Robert Hickam of Roxbury; Father William Faix, OSA, of the St. Augustine Preparatory School, and Father Garrett Barry, OWI, of Tewksbury.

Six brothers-in-law, all of the Woods family of Wilmington, were his pall bearers—Joseph, Richard, Robert, Leo, William and Edward.

Burial was in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Father Berube, assisted by the other priests and Monsignor.

He is survived by his wife, the former Winifred Woods, three children, John, Richard and Kathleen, a brother John, of Alberta,

IN HIS FATHER'S PLACE: John Barry receives, from Father Paul Berube of St. Thomas, the award that was to be given to his father, who had died the day before.

The citation was from the Woburn District of the Archdiocesan Union of Holy Name Societies, and named Robert Barry as the Man of the Year, for 'His Zeal, Devotion and Dedication to the cause of the Holy Name, symbolic of all the men of his district, and for having accomplished great results in the promotion of Holy Name ideals.

The Mass was held at the Archdiocesan Television Studio in Boston (Channel 38) and was also broadcast over Channel 7, at 9:15 am Sunday.

Canada, and his parents, Michael and Anna Barry of Medford.

Funeral arrangements were in charge of the J B McMahon & Son Funeral Home of Wilmington.

roaring down Chestnut Street, two from Wilmington, and one each from Billerica, Burlington and Tewksbury.

Brennan drove into Woburn, and up Mountain Road, which has a surface in places that sounds like its name. On the other end a Woburn cruiser was waiting.

He dodged around it, as he had dodged around the Burlington cruiser. He headed up Main Street (Route 38) again into Wilmington. Soon he was going north on Woburn Street. Residents say that there were a total of eight cruisers in pursuit.

Brennan turned east onto Park Street, and headed for North Reading. This time the report is that there were seven cruisers. In North Reading he turned south on Route 28. Just as he crossed the line into Reading a bullet from the gun of a Billerica officer punctured one of his rear tires.

It was then that he stopped, and jumped out, headed for the woods.

And it was then that Wilmington's Officer Jay Palmer slipped the lease on Zip.

After only 75 feet Brennan chose to climb a tree - and hurriedly. And Zip was so close that he almost got himself a mouthful of pants!

Tom Daly's barn

Latest in list of suspected arsons

For a couple of minutes, at 4 am Sunday, Maynard Eaton, owner of the Knollwood Dairy, was on the receiving end of a real surprise.

Eaton, last Friday, had gone to the Wilmington Fire Department and suggested that perhaps it might be a good idea to burn the barn of the Daly Farm, on Andover Street. The barn had not been used since Tom Daly had died, and standing unguarded, it might prove to be an attraction to the people who are going around setting fire to old structures.

CURVING WATER: Silhouetted against the fire, as the firemen vainly tried to reach the fire, without adequate hose pressure.

The Brave Fire Laddies told Eaton they would tell the Chief about the idea.

So when Eaton arrived at the farm at 4 am Sunday, on his regular milk business, he was surprised to find Chief Arthur Boudreau standing in the street, looking over the property. It did not occur to Eaton that Fire Chiefs do not ordinarily stand out in the street at 4 am - after all, it was his regular starting hour with his milk business.

'What do you say, Chief?' - 'think it's a good idea to burn down the barn?'

'Huh?' said Boudreau. 'It's been burned flat to the ground!'

Eaton still did not understand. 'You mean you've burned it down already?'

'No - somebody else did!'

The Daly barn went up in a blaze at Saturday midnight. The reflection of the fire could be seen in the sky for miles. Wilmington's firemen were assisted by Andover and Tewksbury, but low water pressure caused by the fact that the Andover Street water main is not only a six inch one, but ends with a dead end half a mile further on, hampered the fire fighters.

It was no surprise to the Wilmington Fire Department. During the past several months there have been half a dozen telephone calls to the department, saying that the barn was on fire - all false alarms. Saturday night the telephone call, from an unknown person, was for real.

The barn, 36 by 36 feet, was valued on the Assessor's list at $2500. It was built about 1883 for Eben Jordan, of Jordan Marsh of Boston. He had the adjacent house built at about the same time, for the use of one of his mistresses, and the barn was where the lady kept her horses and carriage - one of the finest in Wilmington at that time.

Tom Daly bought the farm, for taxes, in 1912, 160 acres in area, it is still the home of his widow.

Tony
Living on the farm is an unfortunate man, who seventy odd years ago, as a boy of six, accidentally swallowed some pills, which affected him both mentally and physically. He is known affectionately to the old timers of Wilmington as Tony, which is not his name. There are many stories in Wilmington folklore about Tony, and his deeds and sayings, which, except for his age, could come under the heading of 'Bright sayings of Children'.

The first thing that the firemen and police thought of, when they arrived at the scene of the fire, were the old people living in the house. Everyone was safe, but Tony was highly excited. He was soon seated on the porch, where he could not see the fire.

An electrician from the Reading Municipal Light Department came to the fire, to make certain that all was safe, electrically speaking. He decided to cut the wires, leading from the piazza roof to the barn.

He approached a man, seated on the porch. 'How do I get to the second floor?' he asked.

The man was Tony, and those who knew him, and knew he was seated on the porch, were delighted to hear the answer.

'You go up the stairs!'
